

7th Annual

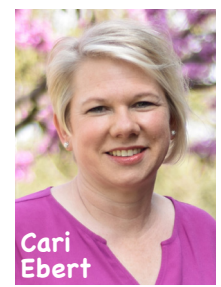

Made with Purpose... Play with Purpose

KAIRS EARLY CHILDHOOD EDUCATION WORKSHOP

MARCH 3, 2018 | PRINCE OF PEACE LUTHERAN CHURCH & PRESCHOOL | TOPEKA, KS

Experts agree that play is important for early childhood education and development. But what constitutes play? As screens and high-tech options are more available at younger and younger ages, early educators and parents are faced with numerous challenges.

Register today for the 7th Annual KAIRS Early Childhood Education Workshop on March 3 as Cari Ebert, pediatric speech-language pathologist, brings her high-energy keynote address, "The Power of Play in a High-Tech World." She will give helpful insights into how play can impact our 21st Century early childhood education. Cari will also discuss the ramifications of increased technology in the classroom and at home, early academic expectations, and will ask the question, "Is true play worth preserving?"

Workshop Schedule

9 am – 12 pm:

- Cari Ebert, Keynote: "The Power of Play in a High-Tech World"

12:45 – 3 pm Breakout Presentations:

- Mary Williams: "Communicating the Value of Intentional Play"
- Dorothy Clopton: "The Hidden Senses: How They Help Us Move and Learn" – Demonstrated in a Movement Class!
- Laurie Wyssman: "Putting Your Best Foot Forward; Marketing Your Strengths"
